SHOREHAM-BY-SEA
INCLUDING SHOREHAM BEACH

SHOREHAM-BY-SEA is a seaport at the mouth of the river Adur; it comprises the parishes of New and Old Shoreham, has a junction railway station, and is 56½ miles from London, 6 west from Brighton, 22 east from Chichester. 5 east from Worthing, in the Arundel and Shoreham parliamentary division, Fishersgate Hundred, Brighton county court district, rape of Bramber, petty sessional division of Steyning, rural deanery of Hove, archdeaconry of Lewes and diocese of Chichester. Shoreham returned two members to Parliament from 1 Edward 1. (1272). but under the provisions of the Redistribution of Seats Acts, 1855 (18 & 49 Vict, o, 23) the representation was merged into that of the county. The Local Government Act, 1858, was adopted here 6th December 1865, when a local board was formed; but- under the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894(36 & 57 Vict c. 73) the town is now governed by an Urban District Council, consisting of seventeen members. By Local Government Board Order No. 54,313 which came into operation October 1st. 1910, parts of Lancing, Old Shoreham and Kingston-by-Sea were added to the Urban District, which was renamed Shoreham -by-Sea; by a further Order Ho. 71,927, of 1927, part of the parish of Lancing in the rural district of Steyning West was transferred to the Urban district of Shoreham-by-Sea; the district comprises that town, Shoreham Beach and Kingston-by-Sea and is divided into Buckingham, Kingston Buci, Kingston St. Julian's, St. Mary's, St. Nicolas and Marine wards. Under the West Sussex Review Order, 1933 the remainder of the Parish of Old Shoreham was transferred to the Shoreham-by-Sea Urban District. There is a bridge over the river Adur which was opened by Lord Leconfield in 1933. It is a steelwork structure consisting of four spans of riveted bow-string girders. The road over the bridge directly connects Brighton, Hove and Shoreham-by-Sea with Worthing, Littlehampton, Arundel and Chichester. Water is supplied by the Brighton Corporation from works situated at Old Shoreham, where there are two reservoirs, the higher one capable of holding 80,000 gallons and the lower 90,000.00. Old Shoreham once a place of some importance, is half a mile north of the new town. Ella, the first king of the South Saxons, landed here to complete the conquest of England, and Charles II. made his escape from Shoreham to Fécamp after the battle of Worcester. By an order dated August 9th 1881, the limits of the port were defined as commencing at the eastern part of Rottingdean, being the western boundary of the port of Newhaven, and extending along the coast of Sussex in a westerly direction to the western part of Heene, that being the eastern boundary of the port of Littlehampton. The trade of the port consists mainly of coal, oil, timber, stone, sand and shingle and general cargo; boat building is also carried on.

The church of St. Mary de Haura, New Shoreham. dating from 1103, is part only of an ancient cruciform structure, of which nearly the whole of the nave has been destroyed; it is a specimen of late Norman and Transitional architecture of flint and stone; it consists of a chancel of five bays with blind-storey and clerestory and aisles, one bay only of the nave, transepts and a lofty central tower (which was restored in 1896), containing a clock and 8 bells; the only remaining-bay of the nave has a three-light Perpendicular window; the main entrance is through an arch in the late Norman style, decorated with the carving peculiar to that period. In 1920 a brass was placed in the north transept in memory of those connected with the parish who fell in the Great War, 1914-18; a stone tablet to the officers and men of the 72nd infantry Brigade was erected at the same time. In the churchyard is a stone cross erected in 1925 by Frederic Lennard esq. in memory of his son and men of the town who fell in the Great War 1914-18. The South Aisle Chantry Chapel was restored in 1944. In 1948 the North Transept Chapel was restored as a Town War Memorial consisting of 18th century communion rails and modern oak screen on which the names of the fallen are inscribed. The new High Altar is the gift of W. G. Bowley esq. as a memorial to his wife. The former stone altar placed in the church in 1829 is now the altar of the War Memorial Chapel. The register dates from the year 1566. The living is a vicarage, held with that of St. Nicolas, Old Shoreham, with residences; it is in the gift of the Bishop of Chichester, and has been held (jointly with that of St. Mary's) since 1955 by the Rev. Geoffrey S. Froggatt M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford. Originally a Saxon church dating back to about 900, the church of St. Nicholas, Old Shoreham, is a cruciform building of flint with stone dressings, the arches in the tower and other features being of Norman date; it consists of a chancel, transepts, nave, north chapel, and a central tower containing one bell; the church was repaired in 1813; there are 200 sittings. The register dates from the year 1566. The living is a vicarage, in the gift of the Bishop of Chichester and has been held (jointly with that of St. Mary's) since 1955 by the Rev. Geoffrey S. Froggatt M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford.

St. Giles', Shoreham, is an ecclesiastical district and was formed in 1934. The church, which stands in Upper Shoreham road at the corner of Park avenue, is a red brick building with nave, chancel and vestry; it was built in 1909 and was formerly used exclusively as a chapel for Southlands Hospital. With the development of the new residential district, however it was opened as the church of the new district in 1936. There is a memorial to the relatives and friends of residents in this parish who fell in the Great War 1914-18, unveiled on Armistice Day, 1934. The living is in the gift of the Bishop of Chichester and has been held since 1956 by the Rev. John G. White.

The church of the Good Shepherd, Shoreham Beach, dedicated in July-1913, is a brick building with a tower and west porch. The Rev. Robert B. Birmingham (vicar of South Lancing) is priest in charge.

The Roman Catholic church of St. Peter is an edifice of flint with stone dressings, in the Gothic style of the 18th century; it was opened in 1875, and consists of a nave and a Lady chapel on the north side; there are 200 sittings.

The Convent of the Sisters of Mercy is in Southdown road.

The Methodist church and Sunday school, in Brunswick road, were built in 1900, and seat about 390 persons; the Congregational church was founded in 1800; the present building was erected in 1904 and seats 200 persons; it is built of brick and terra cotta; the style is Early English; a hall was opened in 1953; the Providence Baptist chapel in John street, built in 1887, seats 200.

The Baptist chapel, with school adjoining, in the Western road, built in 1880, is an edifice of brick and flint, with dressings of Portland stone, in the Italian style, and will seat 300 persons.

The Town hall, formerly the Custom house, but reconstructed and enlarged, is the property of the Urban District Council. A Cemetery of nearly 4½ acres in extent was formed in 1887; 2 acres were added in 1953.

The Marlipins Museum, High street, is an ancient building consisting of two storeys, the floor of the lower one being about 2 feet below the level of the street. The original purpose of the building is a matter of uncertainty, but it is probable that it was originally erected by the de Braose family, who, as lords of the town, exacted tolls from ships using the port and from merchants frequenting the market. Such tolls probably being paid in kind may have been stored here. The ancient building was saved from destruction by a fund raised by public subscription. It is vested in the Sussex Archaeological Trust and managed by a local committee which, on October 20th, 1936, opened the building as the Marlipins Museum for the collection of antiquities of the town and neighbourhood.

The area of Shoreham-by-Sea Urban District is 3,093 acres. The population in 1951 was 13,057. KINGSTON-BY-SEA is a parish, half a mile west from Southwick railway station, 1 mile east from Shoreham and 5 miles west from Brighton, in the Arundel and Shoreham parliamentary division, Fishersgate hundred, Bramber rape, urban district of Shoreham-by-Sea (to which it was added by Local Government Board Order No. 54,317, which came into operation on October 1st, 1910), petty sessional division of Steyning, Brighton county court district, deanery of Hove, archdeaconry of Lewes and diocese of Chichester. The parish is supplied with water by the Brighton Corporation. Anciently called Kingston Buci it is also mentioned in Domesday Book as Kingston or Chingestune forso; it received its name of Kingston Buci from Landric de Buci who held the land from William the Conqueror. The church of St. Julian is a building of flint and stone in the early English style, and consists of a chancel, nave, north transept, south porch and a tower containing one ancient bell and a peal of modern tabular bells; there is a Easter sepulchre and tomb, reputed to be that of a member of the Lewknor family, on the north side of the sanctuary; a low side window and a sundial were discovered in 1930; there is an alabaster and marble tablet on the south wall of the nave, a 12th century doorway and a vestry in memory of those connected with the parish who fell in the Great war, 1914-18; there is an anchorite cells in the north side dedicated to St. Julian and the Anchorites; there are 300 sittings. The register dates from the year 1591. The living is a rectory, with residence, in the gift of Lord Leconfield, and has been held since 1936 by the Rev. Thomas Glaisyer A.K.C. The church Parish hall, a building of red brick, was opened in 1861 [?]. The rectory dates from 1450 and possesses some very fine panelling and oak wood. There is a Custom House, and ship quays, and extensive malting houses held by The Kemp Town Brewery. The lighthouse, erected in 1846, opposite the mouth of Shoreham Harbour, stands in the centre of this parish, and opposite to it is a lifeboat station. The Steyning Institute, now known as Southlands Hospital was built in 1901 on the Upper Shoreham road, and has attached 20 acres of ground. Part of the land on the southern portion of this parish is now used as market gardens [xxx] for fruit growing; there are
